IUKA STATE BANK PARTNERS WITH CSI

PADUCAH, Ky. – (November 11, 2008) – Iuka State Bank in Iuka, Illinois, recently partnered with Computer Services, Inc. (CSI) (OTCQX: CSVI), a leading provider of core data processing and other integrated banking solutions.

Chartered in 1910, Iuka State Bank serves customers in Marion County and surrounding communities in Southern Illinois. The bank prides itself in providing friendly, efficient and personalized customer service. Iuka State Bank's dedication to its customers was one of the reasons the bank chose to convert from in-house processing to CSI's service bureau solution.

"CSI has an excellent reputation in the financial services industry," said Herman Zuber, President at Iuka State Bank. "Because of our partnership with CSI, we will be able to continue to focus on customer service while CSI handles the technology demands required in the ever-changing banking industry. We are confident that CSI will not only meet our needs today, but the company will continue to meet our needs as we grow in the future."

Since its conversion in September, Iuka State Bank has taken advantage of CSI's image and branch capture products to eliminate courier costs, and plans to offer telephone and Internet banking to provide customers with more convenient access to their accounts.

"Iuka State Bank is a community bank with great growth potential," said Andy Burkett, CSI Vice President of Sales. "CSI is proud to provide Iuka State Bank with the products and services it needs to compete in the hyper-competitive banking industry and better serve its customers."
